Understanding Handicaps

Handicaps are posted as two numbers, a Handicap Index (the Index column) and a Course Handicap (Handicap column). The second number is NOT a rounding of the first.

The Handicap Index is a measurement of a player's potential ability on a course of standard playing difficulty. It is expressed as a number taken to one decimal place. This is the number you carry from course to course as a measure of your potential.

A Course Handicap is the number of handicap strokes a player receives from a specific set of tees at the course being played to adjust his scoring ability to the level of scratch or 0-handicap golfer. A Course Handicap is determined by applying the player's USGA Handicap Index to a Course Handicap Table or Course Handicap Formula. A player's Course Handicap is expressed as a whole number of strokes.

So if your handicap is posted above as 12.9 / 14 it means that your handicap index is 12.9 and when you play Sheridan's White Tees (which have a slope rating of 119) you get 14 handicap strokes. The number of handicap strokes you receive may vary by course depending on the slope rating of the course and the tees you play.

NOTE: Scores of rounds played in Western NY between October 22, 2007 and April 24, 2008 do not count for handicap purposes. Scores of rounds played in Florida, California, and other areas where golf is played year round do count and should be posted either online at ghin.com or in the handicap computer in 2008.
