SHERIDAN PARK GOLF CLUB

News and Events Update

THE 2022 SUMMER PARTY IS WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 10th

We strongly encourage all Club Member's to attend the Summer Party. There will be updates provided on the state of the Club and on upcoming Club events. A Beef or a Chicken dinner will be offered. There will be door prizes as usual, and this is a great opportunity to meet other members.

POSTING OF SCORES

All 'Acceptable Scores' must be posted in a timely manner. What is an "acceptable score" you ask? Scores for rounds that meet all the requirements described in this 1-minute video (LINK).

The handicap computer in the Clubhouse is now working. You must adjust your scores to the Net Double Bogey maximum prior to posting them. The EASIEST way to do this (and the way the Club requests that all members do it) is to post scores using the Hole-by-Hole method because it automatically adjusts high individual hole scores to the Net Double Bogey maximum.

ADOPT A HOLE

Some club members have taken it upon themselves to "Adopt a Hole". We appreciate their work and hope that more members will follow Glen Gast's lead. If you don't want to, officially, adopt a hole, we encourage all members to do "a little extra". Extras would include: Fixing your own divots and some others; Fixing your own ball marks and fixing a few others; Pick up trash; Pick up broken tees in the tee boxes and put in trash. I know it doesn't sound like much, but it seems to have made a difference this year. These is generally less trash around, the tee boxes seem to have less broken tees, and the greens have less ball marks. This can only help our position when discussing the course with the town.

SHERIDAN PARK GOLF CLUB

THE GOLD TEES, MAKING THE DECISION

James Duggan

I stood at the top of the hill at the corner of Hole #9 at Sheridan. I recalled when I first started playing golf at our beloved home course that this was an ideal place to land my tee shot as it would typically call for a 7-iron approach to the green. Today, my handicap is some 7 strokes more than in my heyday and that 7-iron to the green has now become my club of choice for laying up so that I might be in position to approach the green in 3. Time has changed my golf game. Most of the better courses in golf have 5 sets of tees. Currently, at Sheridan we have the Blues (6644 yards), the Whites (6396 yards) and a Gold set (5728 yards). The Rules Committee of our Board has recommended changes to the tee boxes on 6 holes (#'s 4, 5, 10, 12, 14 and 15) moving each to more playable locations for guys like me who can no longer reach the Par 4's in regulation. The Gold Tees have already been moved on Holes 5, 10 & 15, and the Board is working with the Town to move them on 4 & 12. Once all these 6 Gold tees are moved, we have the NY State Golf Association's course rating team come in to re-rate all 4 sets of tees. While one might argue, "Jim, just accept the fact that you've gotten older", I submit that the game and courses are designed for the younger among us. It's time for me to change. My hope is that we can get enough of our members to adopt the change so that we might have a competitive division within our Club of guys who, like me, enjoy the game too much to give it up but who no longer want to play it because of the frustration of length.

Below are several articles that I have clipped that I find useful in explaining a rationale that, for me has been far too long ignored. Let me and your Board know your thoughts as I'd like to implement a plan for tournament play as soon as possible.

Del Ratcliffe:

"The short answer, in my opinion, is the appropriate tee for any given individual has nothing to do with age, gender or even 'ego." It has to do with the playing ability of that individual. It is evident that people enjoy the game more if they are presented a challenge that is appropriate to their skill set...the appropriate tees are the ones that allow you to reach the landing area with that distance and have an approach shot into the green that is comparable to what the design of the hole intended."

Ken Green:

"Golfers make the move up way too late, in my opinion. The male ego gets in the way. I don't play the tips anymore, and sometimes I even go to the whites depending on the length of the course." [NOTE: Ken's lower right leg was amputated after a horrible accident in which his RV blew a tire and crashed. He wears a prosthetic, and understandably, his length is diminished from what it once was.] He continues, "My theory is you should try and shoot whatever your best golf was when you were younger. I still want to shoot under par, so I go to the tee where I can shoot a few under par. Why would you want to beat yourself up playing tees where you can't even come close to shooting what you used to shoot?" His final thought is quite insightful: "Go to the tee where you can beat your best score. Golf will figure out a way to stop you."

Bill Pockl:

Bill is 79 and just had knee surgery. He told me, "Until a few years ago, I could shoot in the low 80's, but then my scores crept up and became the high 80's. I just couldn't keep up. On some holes, from the white and even red tees, I couldn't reach the fairway. I began using the gold tees just on the par 5s, but then started using them on all holes. I can make birdies and even an occasional eagle again." When I asked him what he was shooting now, he said, "Back in the low 80's. I'm having a lot more fun now."

PGA Golf Professionals:

"A lot of seniors are discouraged about moving forward because that next tee could be red, and they associate that with ladies. We always try and call them forward tees, not ladies tees. Tee it up from wherever the hell you want- I would never discourage anyone from teeing it up anywhere, even if it's in front of existing tees. It's about having fun and coming back, not feeling like they went a couple of rounds with a boxer. In everyday play, I think the person should play the tees that allow them to hit irons in to the par 4's." "Tournament play is different. During the city tournament, 60 and older play from the red tees, 59 and under play from the white tees."

Admiral Mike Broadway:

Admiral Broadway had a slightly different angle: "I play in a league on Tues, Wed and Fri. Most everybody is a senior, so for me it was just a matter of convenience and speed of play to stay with most of the group on the senior tees.. I still have the distance to play the whites and maybe the blues, but I'm not consistent with my ball striking. My logic is I need to work on approach shot consistency and the short game. If I can do that and develop some friendships with some remarkable people then the senior tees are just fine. I'm not blessed with tremendous athletic ability and, as Clint Eastwood said, 'A man has to know his limitations'." His last comment might be the most important: "And I'm having just as much fun." [To piggyback on Admiral Broadway's comment, I took lessons a few years ago from an intern who was prepping to become a teaching pro. He happened to mention that, in his college golf days, the coach had the team practice once a week from the red tees. They all could pound the driver, as most 20-something college golfers can. When I asked why, he said, "it made us all work on our short games."]

THE COLOR CONUNDRUM:

Most of us remember the "Tee It Forward" initiative launched by the PGA and USGA. The initiative came from Barney Adams of Adams Golf fame and is based on the fact that pros hit the ball about 1000 yards longer over 18 holes than most of the rest of us. Simple math shows that if the pros are playing a 7,200 yard course, we should play at 6,200, or even less if we hit it less far. You can read the article on Teeing It Forward And- no one told me this, so I hesitate to bring it up, but I still believe it. The "red tee box" has a fundamentally negative connotation to male golfers who, for years, have played white (or even blue) tees. Moving to the "red" tees admits to not being good enough, powerful enough, man enough (ladies-I'm not being a sexist, just a realist) to be able to play from the regular tees any longer. It's an emotional decision to make. There is a critically important caveat to the above statement: Playing from the forward tees because one wants to, is one thing; playing from the forward tees because one has to is altogether different. Maybe a solution is to move up before you need to-then it's your choice rather than by necessity. Hmmmm...... [I've never played from the red tees. Ever. There are times I should have, and times I've wanted to, especially after having researched this. Therefore, I just added a 2018 New Year Resolution: I'm going to play a round from the forward tees sometime this spring. Then I'll report on how it felt and how I played.] Mr. Ratcliffe also offered this: "A number of years ago I designed a tee sign system that I still believe is what golf needs. It takes away the "assignment" of tees by age, gender or ego, and places it on a simple factor: driving distance. We developed signage borrowed from ski slope difficulty. Double Diamond being the most difficult, and long; and working down to Yellow Moon for those who hit a drive no more than 100 yards."
